Private Client Practice

Over the past few decades, personal wealth in China has grown rapidly. People have become increasingly concerned about preservation and growth in wealth, as well as estate planning. JunHe's private client team helps clients design a customized solution for the management and division of family businesses and assets. JunHe's team can help build a firewall between individual assets and corporate assets for risk control, implement tax planning as well as prevent and respond to disputes over inheritance.

Our Team

Our private client team has partners specializing in different fields. Private client practice involves corporate matters, capital markets, tax law and labor and dispute resolution, and our clients benefit from the rich experience of our team which is comprised of more than 880 professionals, including 240 partners and counsels from our thirteen offices both within and outside China. We work in close cooperation with the leading law firms in the field of private client practice from many foreign countries and regions. Therefore, we can use our rich international experience on one hand and our thorough understanding of China on the other, to provide domestic and international private client solutions and relevant legal services to our clients.
