

CHEN, Feng

Partner

Tel: +86 21 2208 6354
Fax: +86 21 5298 5492
E-mail: chenf@junhe.com

Practice Areas:

International Trade
Dispute Resolution

Professional Experience

Mr. Feng Chen is a partner currently based at JunHe's Shanghai office and his practice focuses on customs law. He has more than 20 years of experience counseling clients on customs duties, customs clearance (including CIQ inspections and trade controls), and customs protection of intellectual property rights. He specialises in customs enforcement matters involving customs audits and investigations and smuggling-related criminal cases.

With unmatched insight into customs law and enforcement practices, and extensive experience regarding customs duty disputes and administrative penalties, he has dealt with over 700 customs penalties and has heard dozens of administrative reconsiderations. Mr. Chen advises on tariff classification, valuation, country of origin and marking requirements, customs clearance, bonded warehouses, CIQ inspections and anti-smuggling issues, and guides his clients through customs inspections, audits and investigations.

To minimize exposure to various customs duties and custom-related legal risks, Mr. Chen provides companies with compliance counseling regarding customs self-assessment and compliance programs.

Mr. Chen is an expert at defending clients in smuggling-related criminal cases. He has successfully defended many high-profile clients in criminal cases in recent years with his vast professional knowledge and practical experience in the areas of customs duties, trade controls and customs clearance practices.

Education

B.A., Southwest University of Political Science and Law, 2000.

Professional Associations

Mr. Chen was admitted to practice law in China in 2010.

Language Skills

Mandarin and English