Professional Experience

Philip Kwok is a Partner of JunHe's Hong Kong Office. His practice focuses on complex commercial litigation and arbitration, regulatory investigations, cybersecurity and data protection, financial technology compliance, electronic data preservation and retention, as well as disputes and regulatory matters for internet and e-commerce businesses.

Before joining JunHe, Mr Kwok has practiced in the Beijing and Hong Kong offices of international law firms as well as in a global multidisciplinary network for nearly 14 years. He has developed extensive experience in cross-border complex commercial disputes resolution, regulatory investigations and compliance, and other technology and e-commerce related disputes, compliance and advisory work and is familiar with the legal environments in Hong Kong, Mainland China, the United States and other jurisdictions.

Mr Kwok obtained his Bachelor of Laws degree from the University of Hong Kong, and his Juris Master degree from Peking University. He is the first batch graduate from the E-Commerce Law stream of the Juris Master degree of Peking University, when he participated in various research projects on e-commerce regulatory matters commissioned by the PRC Ministry of Commerce and the National People's Congress Finance and Economic Committee. He is currently a Member of the InnoTech Committee of the Law Society of Hong Kong, and a Lecturer (Non-Clinical) of the Faculty of Law, the University of Hong Kong, responsible for the PRC Information Technology and Electronic Commerce Law course for primarily Master of Laws and Juris Doctor students. Mr. Kwok frequently writes, speaks and advises clients on issues relating to blockchain, cybersecurity, privacy and data protection, digital signatures, virtual identity verification, anti-money laundering issues, and other legal issues in relation to the latest technology.

Mr Kwok is among the first batch of lawyers who passed the Guangdong-Hong Kong-Macau Greater Bay Area Legal Professional Examination.
